

2024!

Thus Far...

by Michael Sui 🍵

"Dancing on the highway..."

A lot of lovely moments have come my way this year, whether I felt "ready" / present while they were happening. The winter was obsessive and melancholic as per usual. Idk maybe fixation is a subconscious way of combatting mundanity. Luckily what was new was a colourful cast of characters who've taken over my life and helped me move more graciously while propelling my romanticism.

